NOTES

All years referred to in this report are fiscal years, unless otherwise noted.

Details in the text and tables of this report may not add to totals because of rounding.

The Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Act of 1985 (commonly known as Gramm Rudman Hollings) is also referred to in this report more briefly as the Balanced Budget Act. The amendments to this act made by Public Law 100-119, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Reaffirmation Act of 1987, are also referred to in this report more briefly as the Reaffirmation Act.

The source for all data in this report is the Congressional Budget Office, unless otherwise noted.

CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE
U.S. CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, DC 20515

October 11, 1988

Honorable James C. Miller III
Director
Office of Management and Budget
Washington, D.C. 20503

Dear Mr. Miller:

I herewith submit to you my Final Sequestration Report for Fiscal Year 1989, as required by Public Law 100-119, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Reaffirmation Act of 1987. This report assesses the impact of legislation enacted and regulations made final since my initial sequestration report, transmitted on August 20, 1988.

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that action taken by the Congress and the Administration since August has reduced the 1989 deficit by $1.2 billion. Under the same economic and technical assumptions used in CBO's initial sequestration report, the 1989 deficit now stands at $151.8 billion, and exceeds the Balanced Budget Act target by $15.8 billion.

This report presents the assumptions underlying CBO's deficit estimate, and calculates the amounts and percentages by which various budgetary resources would need to be sequestered to reduce the deficit to the target level under these assumptions.

I would be pleased to provide you with any assistance that you may require in preparing your own final sequestration report.

Sincerely yours,

Honorable George Bush
President of the Senate
Washington, D.C. 20510

Dear Mr. President:

I herewith submit to the Congress my Final Sequestration Report for Fiscal Year 1989, as required by Public Law 100-119, the Balanced Budget and Emergency Deficit Control Reaffirmation Act of 1987. This report assesses the impact of legislation enacted and regulations made final since my initial sequestration report, transmitted on August 20, 1988.

The Congressional Budget Office estimates that action taken by the Congress and the Administration since August has reduced the 1989 deficit by $1.2 billion. Under the same economic and technical assumptions used in CBO's initial sequestration report, the 1989 deficit now stands at $151.8 billion, and exceeds the Balanced Budget Act target by $15.8 billion. An across-the-board reduction of budgetary resources will be triggered if the final estimate of the 1989 deficit made by the Office of Management and Budget exceeds the act's $136 billion target by more than $10 billion.

This report presents the assumptions underlying CBO's deficit estimate, and calculates the amounts and percentages by which various budgetary resources would need to be sequestered to reduce the deficit to the target level under these assumptions.

I would be pleased to provide the Congress with any assistance it may require in responding to this report, or to the final report by the Director of the Office of Management and Budget to be issued on October 15, 1988.

Sincerely yours,

FINAL SEQUESTRATION REPORT
FOR FISCAL YEAR 1989

A CONGRESSIONAL BUDGET OFFICE
REPORT TO THE CONGRESS
AND THE OFFICE OF MANAGEMENT AND BUDGET

October 11, 1988

INTRODUCTION

On August 20, the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) transmitted its initial sequestration report for fiscal year 1989 to the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Congress.¹ Following the specifications provided by the Balanced Budget Reaffirmation Act, CBO projected a fiscal year 1989 federal budget deficit of $153.0 billion--$17.0 billion above the maximum deficit allowed in the act, and $7.0 billion above the level that would trigger sequestration. CBO now estimates that laws enacted and regulations implemented since its initial report have decreased the fiscal year 1989 deficit to $151.8 billion, and decreased the excess deficit to $15.8 billion.

Under the Reaffirmation Act, CBO's role in the sequestration process is strictly advisory; an independent estimate of the projected deficit will be made by the Director of OMB on October 15, 1988, and that estimate will determine the necessity and magnitude of sequestration. OMB's deficit estimate is expected to be within the $10 billion margin-of-error specified by the act for 1989. If so, sequestration will not be triggered for 1989.

BUDGET BASELINE TOTALS

The CBO budget baseline estimates of total revenues, outlays, and the deficit for fiscal year 1989 are shown in Table 1. Separate budget baseline estimates are provided for laws and regulations in effect on January 1, 1988; August 15, 1988; and October 7, 1988.² The economic and technical assumptions used for these budget baseline estimates are identical and are described in CBO's initial sequestration report. The differences between the estimates, therefore, result only from laws enacted and final regulations promulgated since January 1.

CBO's October 7 estimate of outlays includes enacted spending amounts from all 13 regular appropriation bills for fiscal year 1989. For nonappropriated spending accounts and revenues, the baseline estimates assume that current laws and regulations will continue unchanged, and that expiring provisions of law will terminate as scheduled. As required by the act, the budget baseline estimates include the receipts and outlays of the Social Security trust funds, even though they are legally off-budget.

The Reaffirmation Act specifies that asset sales and loan prepayments shall neither be included in the budget baseline estimates nor count toward any net deficit reduction. Loan prepayments excluded from the October 7 baseline--which raise outlays by $5.2 billion--are identical to the amounts listed in CBO's initial sequestration report.

2. The Balanced Budget Act specifies that the final CBO and OMB sequestration reports be based on laws enacted and regulations promulgated by the latest possible date before they are issued. This report has used a snapshot date of October 7, 1988. The OMB report may use a later snapshot date and may reflect additional laws and regulations. For example, the President is expected to sign the Family Welfare Reform Act (H.R. 1720), which CBO estimates will reduce the 1989 deficit by $0.4 billion.

Under these specifications, CBO's estimate as of October 7, 1988, of the budget baseline deficit for 1989 is $151.8 billion. The estimated effect of laws enacted and final regulations promulgated since January 1, 1988, is shown in Table 1. The estimated net deficit change that has occurred since January 1 is an increase of $4.4 billion. Table 2 details the changes in the estimated deficit since August 15.

REQUIRED OUTLAY REDUCTIONS

Sequestration of budgetary resources will be necessary for 1989 if the deficit estimated by OMB exceeds the $136 billion target by more than the $10 billion margin-of-error amount. Once sequestration is triggered, budget outlays must be reduced by the entire amount by which the deficit exceeds $136 billion. The reduction is subject to a ceiling (for 1989 only) of $36 billion, adjusted for the net deficit reduction, if any, since January 1. One-half of the required outlay reduction must be taken from defense programs (budget accounts in the national defense function, 050, excluding the Federal Emergency Management Agency) and the other half from nondefense programs. CBO's deficit projection of $151.8 billion would call for outlay reductions of $15.8 billion in 1989. Table 3 shows how budget outlays in defense and nondefense programs would be cut back to achieve these reductions.

All savings from eliminating automatic spending increases in three programs--the National Wool Act, the special milk program, and vocational rehabilitation--are applied to the required reduction in outlays for nondefense programs. According to CBO estimates, this would produce $48 million in outlay savings in 1989. The outlay savings to be obtained by applying five special rules are also credited to the required spending reductions in nondefense programs. These special rules are for guaranteed student loans, foster care and adoption assistance, Medicare, and certain health programs; a special rule applying to Food Stamps was contained in the recently enacted Hunger Prevention Act of 1988 (Public Law 100-435). The special rules are described in a later section of this report. Outlay savings for these programs under the special rules would be $1.7 billion.

The outlay reductions of $7.9 billion in defense programs and the remaining reductions of $6.2 billion in nondefense programs must be taken on a uniform percentage basis, computed separately for each category. The uniform reduction percentages are computed from outlay estimates. The required outlay savings to be achieved through across-the-board reductions are divided by the estimated outlays from sequestrable budgetary resources in each category. The resulting uniform reduction percentages are then applied to all of the sequestrable budgetary resources (budget authority, credit authority, and other spending authority) for defense and nondefense programs.

a. Excludes $74,753 million in estimated military personnel outlays that have been exempted from sequestration by the President.

b. Includes $6,466 million in estimated 1990 outlays for the Commodity Credit Corporation that can be affected by a 1989 sequestration (see discussion of special rule for the CCC). Also includes an estimated $2,492 million in outlays from the spending of offsetting collections.

According to CBO estimates, the 1989 outlays associated with sequestrable budgetary resources for defense programs are $115.0 billion. This amount excludes $75 billion in 1989 outlays for military personnel accounts that the President has chosen to exempt from sequestration, which he is permitted to do under the Reaffirmation Act. Outlays from obligated defense balances in 1989 are also excluded by law from the sequestrable outlay base. The uniform percentage to be applied to sequestrable defense budgetary resources is 6.9 percent, as shown in Table 3.

A number of nondefense programs are exempted by law from the sequestration process. The largest are Social Security benefits, net interest payments, certain low-income programs, most federal retirement and disability benefits, veterans compensation and pensions, and regular state unemployment insurance benefits. Outlays from appropriations for nondefense programs made in previous years are also not subject to sequestration. The 1989 outlays associated with sequestrable budgetary resources for nondefense programs subject to the uniform percentage reduction are estimated to be $115.6 billion. The estimated uniform percentage to be applied to these remaining nondefense programs is 5.4 percent.

The calculations in this report generally assume that all nonexempt budgetary resources can be sequestered in order to produce outlay savings, including entitlement programs and other mandatory spending programs where the spending authority is not controlled through the annual appropriation process.

AUTOMATIC SPENDING INCREASES

The three programs with automatic spending increases currently subject to sequestration by the Balanced Budget Act, as amended, are listed in Table 4. The scheduled percentage increases are shown as well as the amount of estimated outlay savings to be gained by eliminating these increases.

SPECIAL RULES

The Balanced Budget Act provides special rules for the sequestration of budgetary resources for certain federal programs. This section describes these special rules and their application to the 1989 sequestration calculations. The estimated outlay savings derived from the first five rules are shown separately in Table 3. Any outlay savings resulting from the remaining special rules are included in the amount to be obtained from the uniform percentage reductions.

Table 4. AUTOMATIC SPENDING INCREASES FOR FISCAL YEAR 1989 SUBJECT TO SEQUESTRATION

Program	Scheduled Increase (In percent)	Outlay Reduction (In millions of dollars)
National Wool Act	a	a
Special Milk Programs ^b	2.6	0.1
Vocational Rehabilitation ^c	4.5	47.8
Total		47.9

- a. No 1989 payment increase is expected for this program, based on declining wool support price levels in marketing year 1988.
- b. Benefits are indexed to the producer price index for fresh processed milk.
- c. This program is indexed to the change in the Consumer Price Index (CPI-U) from October of the previous year.

Guaranteed Student Loan Program

The Balanced Budget Act requires two changes in the guaranteed student loan (GSL) program to occur automatically under sequestration. First, the statutory factor for calculating the quarterly special allowance payments to lenders will be reduced by the lesser of 0.40 percentage point or the amount by which the statutory factor exceeds 3 percent for the first four quarters after the loan is made. Under the current program, the reduction will be 0.25 percentage point. Second, a student's origination fee will increase by 0.50 percentage point. In both cases, sequestration affects only GSL loans disbursed during the applicable fiscal year, but after the order is issued. For 1989, these changes are estimated by CBO to reduce outlays by $26 million.

Foster Care and Adoption Assistance Programs

The Balanced Budget Act limits the amount to be sequestered in the foster care and adoption assistance programs to increases in foster care maintenance payment rates or adoption assistance payment rates taking effect during the current fiscal year. Moreover, the amounts are limited to the extent that the reduction can be made by reducing federal matching payments by a uniform percentage across states. The increases in payment rates for these programs are made by the states and localities. Any increases planned by the states for fiscal year 1989 were included in the CBO calculations for sequestration reductions. The estimated outlay savings in 1989 from sequestration are $4 million.

Medicare

The sequestration reductions in the Medicare program are to be achieved by reducing payment amounts for covered services. No changes in co-insurance or deductible amounts are to be made, and covered services are unaffected under a sequestration order. Under such an order, each payment amount for services provided during the fiscal year would be reduced by a maximum of 2 percent relative to whatever level of payment would otherwise be made under Medicare laws and regulations. According to CBO estimates, the outlay savings to be achieved in 1989 by applying this special rule are $1,461 million.

Veterans Medical Care and Other Health Programs

The Balanced Budget Act limits reductions in budget authority for the nonadministrative expenditures for veterans medical care, community and migrant health centers, and Indian health services and facilities to 2 percent in 1989 and any subsequent year. The estimated outlay savings to be achieved in 1989 by applying this special rule to these programs are $186 million.

Food Stamps

The Hunger Prevention Act of 1988 (Public Law 100-435) specifies that, if sequestration occurs in 1989, certain of the act's provisions are to be delayed until 1990. CBO estimates that this delay will reduce 1989 outlays by $4 million. In addition, the Hunger Prevention Act provides that another $110 million in Food Stamp outlays shall be subject to across the-board reduction.

Child Support Enforcement Program

In the child support enforcement (CSE) program, the Balanced Budget Act specifies that sequestration of entitlement payments to states is to be accomplished by reducing the federal matching rates for state administrative expenses. For 1989, the federal matching rate on most expenditures under CBO estimates would be reduced from 68 percent to 63.4 percent, and the rate for computer-related expenditures would be reduced from 90 percent to 83.9 percent. These reductions in the matching rates are necessary to achieve the same 5.4 percent reduction applied to other nondefense programs.

If states increase their share of CSE spending to maintain total program spending at the expected 1989 level, this reduction in the federal matching rate will lower federal outlays by the same percentage as other nondefense programs. If states do not increase their 1989 budgeted amounts to compensate for lower matching rates, however, the lower federal matching rate would result in a larger percentage reduction in federal spending than the act requires. The estimated outlay savings that are to be achieved in 1989 by applying this special rule are $62 million.

Unemployment Compensation Programs

The Balanced Budget Act specifies that the following items are not to be sequestered: regular state unemployment benefits, the state share of extended unemployment benefits, unemployment benefits paid to former federal employees and former members of the armed services, and loans and advances to the state and federal unemployment accounts. The federal share of extended benefits, unemployment insurance for railroad employees, other federally paid benefits, and state and federal administrative expenses are sequestrable.

Both the federal and state shares of extended unemployment benefits are paid from the Unemployment Trust Fund--the federal share from a federal account and the state share from each state's account. State law sets the amount of each weekly extended benefit. The Balanced Budget Act permits any state to reduce the weekly extended benefit amount by a percentage equal to the uniform reduction in the federal share. If states do not change their laws to provide for such a reduction, the weekly benefit payments will not be reduced, the state share will increase by the amount of the decrease in the federal share, and total budget outlays that include both federal and state benefits will not be changed by the sequestration. No states are currently paying extended benefits.

Commodity Credit Corporation

Under the Balanced Budget Act, payments and loan eligibility under any contract entered into by the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) after a sequestration order has been issued for a fiscal year are subject to a percentage reduction. The act requires that reductions for all farm commodities supported by the CCC be made in a uniform manner, including all non-contract programs, projects, and activities within the CCC's jurisdiction. The act further stipulates that outlay reductions in the post-sequestration year that are the result of contract adjustments in the sequestration year should be credited to the overall outlay reduction required in the sequestration year. The outlay savings to be achieved by applying this special rule are estimated by CBO to be $0.5 billion in 1989, and $0.3 billion in 1990. The actual amount of savings realized in each year will depend upon how the sequestration is carried out for the various CCC programs. In accordance with the act, however, all $0.8 billion of these estimated outlay savings are credited toward the $7.9 billion reduction required for 1989 in nondefense spending.

Federal Pay

The Balanced Budget Act provides that rates of pay for civilian employees (and rates of basic pay, basic subsistence allowances, and basic quarter allowances for members of the uniformed services), or any scheduled pay increases, may not be reduced following a sequestration order. Budgetary resources available for federal pay, however, will be subject to sequestration as part of the reduction of administrative expenses, which include travel, printing, supplies, and other services. The total amount of governmentwide savings to be achieved in 1989 from employee compensation cannot be estimated because program managers are expected to be urged not to resort to personnel furloughs and reductions in force until other administrative expenses are reduced as much as possible.

SEQUESTRATION REDUCTIONS

A summary of CBO's calculations for the sequestration of budgetary resources and the estimated outlay savings for 1989 is provided for national defense programs in Table 5 and for nondefense programs by function in Table 6. The tables show CBO's budget baseline estimates for new budget authority and outlays, reductions in outlays caused by sequestration, and post-sequestration spending levels. In most instances, additional outlay savings would be gained in 1990 and later years as a result of the cancellation of 1989 budget authority. The 1990 savings have not been estimated for this report.

A detailed list of the sequestration base and reductions by agency and budget account by type of spending authority is provided as Appendix A of this report. In addition, a separate listing of the sequestration base and reductions for defense programs, projects, and activities is presented in Appendix B.

The CBO sequestration calculations and post-sequestration spending levels are advisory only. OMB will determine whether a sequestration is triggered, and, if so, the actual sequestration amounts. OMB's final sequestration report will be issued on October 15.
